Pathway Programs

Navitas is a university pathway provider. This means that by offering university pathway programs, we create new tertiary study opportunities for students with a wider variety of goals, needs, and backgrounds.

A pathway program is a course that, once completed, allows students who didn't previously qualify for direct university entry to enter the degree of their choice at a top-tier university overseas. Or, if a student simply prefers smaller class sizes, personalised teaching, and extra support during the transition from high school to university, a pathway program is the perfect option.

Navitas pathway programs are courses designed to give students excellent academic, professional, and (if applicable) English language skills. Completing a pathway program allows students to earn credit towards their degree and prepares them for success at university. Many Navitas programs allow students to fast-track their studies and enter their degrees at a Year 2 level.
