ABOUT AISA

The Association of International Schools in Africa (AISA), established in 1969, is a non-profit education association supporting the professional learning and school improvement strategies of international schools on the continent of Africa. Based in Nairobi, Kenya, AISA offers a professional learning programme specifically designed to meet the unique needs of our diverse member school community. AISA also offers a number of supplementary programmes, scholarships and facilitates collaboration among member schools to advance school effectiveness and improve student learning.

Why Undertake an Annual Audit

Schools have a duty of care to protect children and prevent them from harm, and act with a sense of urgency if a child is at risk of harm, no matter how minor the risk may appear.

The International Task Force on Child Protection have identified the following expectations as being the minimum requirement of schools to provide safeguarding and child protection for its students:

- All children have equal rights to be protected from harm and abuse.
- Everybody has a responsibility to support the protection of children.
- All schools have a duty of care to children enrolled in the school and those who are affected by the operations of the school.
- All actions on child protection are taken with the best interests of the child, which are paramount.

Undertaking an annual audit will help your school:

1. Protect children: While child protection policies alone cannot guarantee the protection of all children, undertaking this audit will help your school review how closely your school policies align to model practice, and how well your policies are being implemented, thereby ensuring your school is doing all it can to minimise harm to children.
2. Protect school staff and volunteers: Your school child protection policies will offer clear guidelines on how your school expects its staff to behave with children and keep them safe. This audit will help you identify gaps and omissions in your policies and procedures.
3. Protect you school reputation: Your school child protection policies offer your school community, as well as the broader community, a clear indication of your commitment to protect children. Undertaking an annual audit is a further assurance that your school is upholding this commitment to provide a school that is safe and nurturing for children.

This annual audit tool has been developed to provide a model for AISA member schools to use and adapt to their school context. The self-assessment can be used by leadership and staff to determine if child protection and safeguarding policies are being followed as well as to help determine where there might be a need for policy revisions, procedural changes or more training in the implementation of the policy's requirements.

This tool has been developed using the Final Report and Recommendations of the School Evaluation Committee of the International Task Force on Child Protection (2015). To access the report, see the website of the International Centre for Missing and Exploited children (<http://www.EdPortal.ICMEC.org>).

What's new in this Edition.

The inaugural release of the AISA Safe School's Audit occurred in 2018. Since then, AISA's Child Protection and Wellbeing Programme has undergone significant development, adopting a more comprehensive perspective on child protection that encompasses safeguarding, mental health, and overall wellbeing. Our efforts in Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Justice (DEIJ) have underscored the detrimental impact of identity-based harm, emphasizing the need for corresponding updates in our schools' child protection policies and procedures.

Thus, this 3rd edition of the AISA Safe Schools Audit has undergone some significant changes:

1. Revised Structure: If you have used this tool in the past, you will notice that the structure of this tool has been modified. Governance and Accountability now feature in section 1, reflecting the need for child protection and safeguarding to be prioritised at the highest level of school leadership and governance structures. And Policies and Procedures now feature in the same sections as they are so interrelated.
2. Keeping Children Safe in and Out of School – is a new section, reflecting a contextual safeguarding approach to child protection and the role that schools can and must play in supporting students to stay safe in school and the community.
3. Broader focus: this edition includes new metrics that include how school can support the emotional safety, mental health and wellbeing of students. It also includes new metrics that are DEIJ focused, including measures to address identity-based harm.
4. For Action: New For Action section at the end of each section to help you develop an action plan for your school Child Protection team to strengthen your child protection policies and programme.

How to Use this Tool

This guide should be read in conjunction with the AISA Child Protection Handbook which is freely available on the AISA website: www.aisa.or.ke or on the ICMEC website which includes extensive child protection guidance (<http://www.EdPortal.ICMEC.org>).

This self-audit should be undertaken regularly by the Child Protection Team as well as staff from different areas of the school, students, and the parent community, and submitted to the school leadership for their review. Details of each statement should be complete and thorough, allowing for an external party to have a full and complete understanding of the school's undertakings on each point. Recommendations should be provided where changes are necessary.

The AISA Child Protection Audit tool is divided into six key sections:

1. Governance & Accountability: this section will review how well your school's child protection programme is embedded in the highest level of your school's leadership and governance structure.
2. Child Protection Leadership & Team: this section is focused on the leadership of your school child protection programme and the role of the child protection team.
3. Child Protection Policies & Procedures: this section will help you review your school's Child Protection Policy and indicate what supplemental policies your school might want to develop. It also covers procedures related to responding to harm and allegations of abuse and record keeping.
4. Keeping Children Safe in and Out of School: a new section that highlights the measures schools take to keep children safe at all times.

5. Whole School Community Training & Awareness Raising: this section is related to student, staff and parent training.
6. HR & Safe Recruitment: this section is focused on model practice for safe recruitment.
