

Introduction

Dear Parents and Students,

We are in our fourth week of home learning! Every day, our teachers are working to improve the quality and delivery of the home learning experience. In addition, we are refining approaches to more carefully consider the impact of home learning on parents of our younger learners.

To assist our ongoing improvement efforts, we appreciate you completing this short survey. Your feedback is essential in helping to ensure that the delivery of our curricular programs at home is as effective as possible.
